POLES ADVANCE TO CUT OFF RED ARMY'S RETREAT

Expect Soviet Force to Resume Attack on Lemberg.

BULLETIN.
Warsaw, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Soviet troops are reported to be concentrating in great numbers along the Beresina river where the recent offensive against Warsaw was begun, and military observers here are speculating as to the possibility that they may launch an attack against the central Polish front. It is believed possible the Bolsheviks may make a stand in the event the Poles continue their pursuit of the retreating Soviet armies.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Warsaw, Aug. 25.—The northern Polish army is continuing to move up in the region between Sierp and Soldau, near the East Prussian border and is marching on Chorzellen to cut off the retreat of the remaining Soviet forces. In the center and the south the Poles are advancing.
The military authorities expressed the belief today that although crushed in the north the Bolshevik plan to renew their offensive with Lemberg as the objective.
Regarding the northern Soviet offensive, General Haller declared that the Russian offensive there had been so completely crushed that he considered it impossible for the Soviet forces to resume an organized movement or weeks and perhaps for months.

REDS MODIFY TERMS

London, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—The Russian Soviet government replied today to the note of Arthur J. Balfour, lord president of the council, concerning the Soviet peace terms to Poland. The Soviet government agrees to withdraw its condition that the Poles provide arms for a workmen's militia of 200,000 men in Poland.

FIGHTING IS FIERCE

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Aug. 25.—Fierce fighting in the Orkney district of the Crimea, continually increasing in violence, is reported in the Russian Soviet official statement of Wednesday received here today by wireless. On the Lemberg front the Soviet cavalry has penetrated the Polish rear and reached town of Stryl, the statement says. On the northern front the Soviet retreat continues.

60,000 REDS IN GERMANY

Berlin, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Official quarters here are greatly concerned over conditions on the East Prussian frontier, along the Russian line of retreat. It was estimated tonight that the number of Russian Soviet soldiers who have already entered Germany exceed 60,000. The border patrols are wholly incapable of systematically disarming and controlling the fugitives who willingly surrender their arms and then calmly proceed to enter East Prussia and beg food and shelter of the natives.

POLAND WANTS PEACE

Warsaw, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—M. Dombek, president of the Polish-Minsk peace delegation, has been called to Brest-Litovsk to confer with Polish government representatives. This step was taken because of continued interruption of communications between Warsaw and Minsk.
There is much speculation here concerning the outcome of the Minsk conference, some of the newspapers already hinting there will be no results.
The foreign office announced today that the Polish victory had not changed the attitude of Poland on the question of peace and that the Polish delegates at Minsk were seeking all means to end the quarrel with the Soviets.

WARSAW AGAIN NORMAL

Warsaw, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Warsaw is rapidly assuming the normal conditions of two months ago, thousands of persons who departed having returned. All of the foreign legations are open again or are prepared to open soon.

CUT WAY OUT OF TRAP

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Warsaw, Aug. 26.—Remnants of the Fourth Bolshevik army, which were cut off by the Polish advance in the region of Kolno, have succeeded in cutting their way through to the eastward after a battle lasting ten hours, according to an official statement issued here. The Soviet troops carried out a regrouping manoeuvre and succeeded in making their way out of the trap which had closed upon them, but at last accounts were surrounded by more numerous forces of the Fourth Polish army.
On the central front the Poles have carried out flanking movement to the north and have occupied a number of towns.
In the manoeuvre which resulted on the occupation of Lomza, the Poles took more than two thousand prisoners and nine cannon.

FRANKLIN MAN ADMITS CRIME; IS IN CO. JAIL

George H. Johnson Admits Charges of Young Woman.

Jesse Johnson of Franklin Grove was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Cupp on a charge of incest. The case was called in Justice Albert Hanneken's court yesterday afternoon, Johnson being lodged in the county jail awaiting the preliminary hearing. The case was set for 11 o'clock, but owing to a delayed train service, caused by the wreck, many of the witnesses could not reach Dixon in time and the case was continued until 1 o'clock.

When the case was called Attorney Henry and Sherwood Dixon were present to defend Mr. Johnson, and Blanche Royster, with whom he had been living, refused to testify against him. She, however, named his brother George Henry Johnson, whom she claimed was the father of two children, one two years of age and the other a few months old. George Johnson was present and when questioned by State's Attorney William Leach, admitted the charge.

The charge of incest against Jesse Johnson was dismissed and he was discharged as having been not guilty of any offense. A warrant charging his brother, George Johnson with bastardy was sworn out by Blanche Royster, the defendant refusing to retain counsel but pleading guilty to the charge. Justice Hanneken sent him to the county jail in default of bonds in the amount of $1100, his case to be taken up in the county court at a later date.

NO BOOST YET IN R. R. FARES WITHIN STATE

Interstate Rates Went Up Under Federal Orders.

Dixon railroad passenger agents were busy today familiarizing themselves with the new passenger tariffs, which placed in effect at midnight the 20 per cent increase in interstate passenger fares and 50 per cent boost in interstate Pullman rates, the latter being known as a surcharge.
The railroads have not yet decided what to do in regard to increases in fares within the state, and present rates of approximately three cents a mile will continue in effect at least until September 1, according to information received by local railroad officials.
September 1 the railroads are released from direct federal control and the regulation of passenger rates between points in Illinois returns under authority of the state to two cents a mile, unless the carriers succeed in the meantime in having the state measure declared ineffective. Several of the roads have already started action to have the two cent law set aside, but no decision has been had on their appeal.

Illinois intrastate passenger rates were boosted from two to three cents a mile on the government taking over operation of the lines during war time.
In sending notices of the increase in interstate passenger fares effective last night at midnight, the passenger bureaus notified local ticket agents that no increases were to be made in the fares to points within the state until further orders.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 26.—Increased freight and passenger rates authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission went into effect on practically all railroads of the country. A number of steamship companies operating along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and on the Great Lakes made corresponding advances in their rates.
Railroads which did not advance their rates were those that had not filed the required blanket schedules in time for them to become effective at present.

HI PRICE VICTIM OF SLASHING; CUTS ARE NUMEROUS AND DEEP

Dixon Stores Scene of Activity as Clerks Take Hand.

SATURDAY, DOLLAR DAY, will be the greatest day of its kind in the history of Dixon, and in addition to giving the crowds which are expected in the city some of the biggest bargains possible the merchants have arranged to provide some entertainment for them in the nature of band concerts.

To that end the Chamber of Commerce has engaged the Dixon Municipal Band to play a street concert from 1 to 2 o'clock in the afternoon and again from 7:30 and 7:30 p. m. The band will present two of their popular programs and will doubtless please the many visitors who will be in the city.

Slashing High Prices

The merchants who are co-operating in Dollar Day have conspired to slash Old High Price. Clerks have been busy this week trimming the prices on every article in the stores and buyers are bound to be surprised at the reductions which will be made by the stores of Dixon on Saturday.
Assurance is given by every dealer that the bargains to be offered Saturday are not on old out of date or shopworn goods, but on staple stocks which are carried as leaders and which are strictly up to the minute goods.

Dollar Day has not been arranged to enable the merchants to dispose of surplus stocks, but rather and primarily to convince people who are not regular traders in the city that the stores of no town in the northern part of the state can and do give the buyers the values they can receive in Dixon.

RUNAWAY BOY FUGITIVE FROM STATE SCHOOL

James Moody Admits He Ran Away From St. Charles.

James Moody, the boy who was picked up and held by the police yesterday as being a runaway from his home in Petersburg, Ill., it was learned late yesterday afternoon is a fugitive from the state school for boys at St. Charles. The boy made a clean breast of affairs to Chief Van Bibber yesterday afternoon, giving a complete account of his actions. He left the institution Monday morning about 4 o'clock, after spending the night sleeping in an empty barrel and a shock of oats.

He attributes his actions to the fact that he was severely punished for an offense committed by another boy. He related to the chief and city officials some of the methods of punishment that are dealt out to the inmates of the institution.

Mayor Smith heard the boy's story last evening and has written the county judge of Menard county, the boy's home, in an effort to secure his release from the state school, where he has been a inmate for about two months because of his being implicated in the theft of an old automobile radiator at Petersburg some time ago. The boy told the police and city officials that a few days ago he received a letter from his mother in which she complained of her health and also told her son that she was now compelled to do chores and other work about the home that he had relieved her of before being sent away. He states that his principal reason for leaving the institution was to return home and assist his mother.

During the time that he has been in the custody of the police here, the boy has been the recipient of many friendly acts. One woman called at the station yesterday afternoon and offered to give the boy a home on a farm near town and pay him wages. An officer will come from the St. Charles school today to take the boy back to the institution.

Slain Woman is Identified Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Grantwood, N. J., Aug. 26.—The body of the young woman found slain in the Grantwood woods yesterday today was identified as that of Mrs. Blanche Schulz, of East 135th street, Manhattan. The identification was made by the woman's husband, Frank Schulz, who is an employee of the Interborough Rapid Transit company. Immediately identified the clothing worn by the dead woman. He would not look at the body, but told the police that his wife had a mole on her back which they found as described.
Mrs. Schulz, according to her husband, had been employed in a Manhattan department store, but had been missing from home since last Saturday night when she left for a visit with a sister at Kypport. He said she had with her $50 and five diamond rings and a wedding ring which were missing when the body was found.

An autopsy performed by the physician Ogden showed that the woman's throat had been cut from car to car and that this caused her death. She also had been struck a heavy blow on the left temple, Dr. Ogden said.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26.—Lucas I. Burt of Peoria is and was a federal nomination for clerk of the Supreme Court withdrew from the race on Aug. 19, according to announcement by the secretary of state today, but his withdrawal was not received until three days ago.

The situation has placed assistants in Secretary Emmerson's office in a quandry. The ballots have already been certified to all county clerks, bearing Mr. Burt's name. His withdrawal mailed in sufficient time, but held up in delivery, now depends upon the county clerks.

A letter to all of them is being addressed by Secretary Emmerson advising them of the facts, and leaving it to their own initiative, whether Mr. Burt's name is removed. Unofficial information has been received that several will remove it. This will leave the race in those counties to the incumbent, Charles W. Vail, and the Thompson candidate, Edward Schneider of Chicago.

"TAMA JIM" WILSON, CABINET MEMBER FOR 15 YEARS DIED TODAY

Made Many Great Contributions to Agriculture of Nation.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Traer, Ia., Aug. 26.—James Wilson, former secretary of the department of agriculture, died here at 11 a. m. today.

James Wilson was head of the Department of Agriculture for fifteen years, during which he contributed largely to the phenomenal agricultural development of the United States. His long service in the cabinet constituted a record. Albert Gallatin, once Secretary of the Treasury, had previously held the record with service of nearly thirteen years.

Mr. Wilson's service, however, was notable for the constructive work which it included, rather than for the remarkably long time which he held the portfolio, with complete acceptability under three presidents of diverse temperaments—McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

Mr. Wilson was an Iowa farmer. Born Aug. 18, 1835, he was the son of a Scotchman, who, after residing in the United States for some time, came to Traer, Ia., the family founded the new home, and in that neighborhood the son James began farming on his own account. He was elected to the Iowa State Agricultural College, and for six years prior to becoming Secretary of Agriculture, he was director of the State Experimental Station and Professor of Agriculture at the Iowa State Agricultural College. His application of science to agricultural practice brought him to such national prominence that President McKinley made him Secretary of Agriculture March 4, 1897.

When Mr. Wilson took office the agricultural development of the country was already remarkable, but in the years during which he was at the helm of its interests, so that the federal government was concerned this development was increased far beyond the boundaries of natural promise which mere land and work afforded. The increasing helpfulness which the federal government has shown in this development is indicated to some extent by the fact that when Mr. Wilson became Secretary there were 244 villages in the department and that when he left they were approximately 12,000. This increase, involving altogether larger and larger appropriations, Mr. Wilson obtained on the merits of one achievement after another, until it became a universal acknowledgment that the department of Agriculture was working with a single-minded purpose for the benefit.

Secretary Wilson introduced into the United States a great number of valuable crops, which have been successful only in foreign countries. Among these was Durum wheat, which came to yield nearly $50,000,000 a year to the farmers of the North. He also introduced the possibilities of wheat growing far beyond the former climatic limits. Under his administration the best sugar industry was also fostered, a serum for cholera was discovered, the whole country was aroused on the subject of tuberculosis in cattle, and the care and handling of milk was systematized and improved. Sample sections of good roads were built in almost every state, and communities were inspired to build good roads with their local material. The forests were studied and remarkable advances made toward the conservation of them, and the re-planting of the deforested areas was encouraged. The department's active work, the official agricultural literature was developed to the end that departmental bulletins became of great value among the farmers, presented as they were in simple language along practical lines.

As an octogenarian, Mr. Wilson was still erect and vigorous, a man six feet tall, all bone and muscle. In Iowa his old friends and associates knew him affectionately as "Tama Jim." Of the Presbyterian faith, he was, as a boy, made familiar with the old metrical version of the Psalms from which he frequently quoted in a quaint way with remarkable effect. No formalities affected him. He was a plain, hearty farmer who visited his office in Washington received the same grasp of the hand and courteous attention that was given to leaders in official life.

CRIBS FOR HALF OF PIERS OF NEW BRIDGE READY FOR CONCRETE

Rock Bottom is Delaying Work on New Railroad Structure.

The cribs for more than half of the piers of the new Illinois Central bridge have been completed and the finishing touches are now being put on preparatory to pouring cement for the base. Piling is being driven in the cribs and this work will be completed this week, the pouring of cement to start next week and to be hurried along as rapidly as possible.

Superintendent Armstrong and his men have experienced some delay in driving the piles on account of the bed of rock below the river bed. This morning it required more than a hundred blows from a 6,500 pound steam hammer to sink one of the piles two inches. This is delaying the work considerably and a shortage of labor also hampers the work. The latter delay has existed but a few days and many more men are expected the first of the week.

The forms have been completed for the addition on the arch over the belt line switch tracks and all is in readiness to pour the concrete. The railroad company has promised to furnish some equipment for this work and the delay in the arrival of this equipment has halted the progress of this part of the work. The cribs for half of the piers have been built and Superintendent Armstrong expects to have the concrete bases poured before the middle of next week. As soon as the concrete has set, the cribbing will be torn out and the other half of the piers will be built.

They met in a ten-round engagement in St. Paul two years ago. Last May they fought a seven-round battle, each other in a six-round match at Philadelphia, Miske claiming a victory.

COLBY SIGNS PROCLAMATION OF SUFFRAGE

Action Makes Amendment to Constitution Effective.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The proclamation announcing officially that the suffrage amendment to the constitution had been ratified was signed today by Secretary of State Colby.

The document was signed at 8 o'clock this morning at Mr. Colby's home when the certificate from Gov. Roberts that the Tennessee legislature had ratified the amendment was received. Secretary Colby announced his action on his arrival at his office later.

The announcement disappointed a group of suffrage workers from headquarters of the National Woman's Party who had gathered at state department hoping to be present when Mr. Colby attached his signature to the proclamation. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the party, was among the number.

"We are confident that the signature of Secretary Colby completes the suffrage struggle in this country," she said. "The woman's party will not relax its vigilance, however, until it is satisfied that no further attempts will be made to wrest from the women of the United States the political equality which they have won."

Miss Paul planned to go today to New York to call a meeting of the executive committee of the party at which the date for the national convention to fix future policy will be decided.

Secretary Colby later sent word to the woman's party headquarters that he would see the suffrage leaders at his office if they desired. Word was sent back that Miss Paul was preparing to leave for New York; that her other leaders already had returned to their homes and the invitation could not be accepted.

Secretary Colby had prepared a statement regarding ratification of the suffrage amendment which he planned to read to the officials of the National Woman's Party had they accepted the invitation.

The women gave evidence of keen disappointment in not having had an opportunity to make something of a ceremony out of the signing of the proclamation and went back to their quarters planning an independent jubilation.

When the secretary's invitation to return to his office was declined, another party of suffrage leaders appeared at the department. They were officials and members of the National American Woman Suffrage association, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who is on her way to New York from Nashville. The invitation to hear Mr. Colby's statement was promptly accepted by this group and they filed into his office.

Today's Market Report

(By Associated Press Leased Wire.)

Grain Mart Down at Close Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 26.—Wheat started 1/4 to 1 cent lower today with a cash house selling a fair amount of December early which was regarded as hedging against country purchases in the southwest. There was some buying by a house with seaboard connections and also some scattered professional buying. The decrease of around 11,500 bushels in supplies of passage the past week had some effect on the sentiment. After December had started at 2.32 1/2 to 2.33 and March at 2.29 1/2, a rally quickly set in with a fairly broad trade, and carried prices upward.

September corn acted tight at the start today on scattered selling but there was a good class of commission house buying and the early loss was more than regained. After opening unchanged to 1/4 cents lower with September 1.43 1/2 to 1.44 and December 1.13 1/2 to 1.14 the market began to pick up strength.

Oats started firm with prices up 1/4 cent to 1/2 cent above yesterday's finish. September 67 1/2 cents to 67 3/4 cents and December 67 1/2 cents with some buying of September delivery by cash houses which added additional strength to the market.

Provisions were stronger with hogs, initial quotations being up 17 cents to 40 cents above yesterday's close.

December wheat showed a firm undertone although the best prices were not maintained because of the weakness of other grains. The March delivery was under pressure, and at the close there was a wide spread between the two deliveries. Prices at the finish were unchanged to 1/4 cent lower with December 2.33 1/2 to 2.34 1/2 and March 1.28.

Efforts to advance corn prices met with little success. There was free selling on all bulges and the market weakened quickly, the finish being well toward the low point with prices 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, September being 1.42 1/2 to 1.43 and December 1.13 to 1.14.

Sedition Against Sinn Fein Punished

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED—

Mrs. Charlotte Whipperman celebrated another birthday yesterday, August 25th, at her home at 1122 Walnut avenue, when thirty members and friends of the Sunshine Class of St. Paul's Lutheran church gathered to congratulate her. They found Grandmother Whipperman, as her many friends love to call her, in much better health than a year ago when she was only able for a committee from the class to call on her with greetings and a gift. But this year she was able to enjoy a real birthday party, on the day she was 102 years old.

Her daughter, Miss Lizzie Whipperman, received the guests, assisted by the class officers. After disposing of wraps and packages, they found the centenarian awaiting them in her easy chair, bright and ready to visit. After a social time, the following program was given:

Brief Devotional Service, led by Mrs. Anna K. Esterly.

Organ Solo, "The Burning of Rome" Mrs. Tressa Boyer.

Vocal Solo, "My Task" Mrs. Mabel Johnson.

Organ Solo, "Bagatelle" Miss Ethel Kay.

Vocal Solo, "Somebody Did a Golden Deed," Mrs. Lillian Wolber.

Vocal Duet, "I Would Be Like Jesus," Meadames Johnson and Wolber.

Pictures were then taken on the lawn, followed by refreshments of brick ice cream and wafers after the return to the house.

The teacher, Mrs. M. L. Kay, then, in behalf of the class, presented Mrs. Whipperman a large and beautiful basket of delicious fruit. Others left gifts of flowers, fruit and cards.

Sugar.
Baking powder biscuit crust.

Make a very short biscuit dough, using 2 tablespoons of shortening to each cup of flour. Roll about 1/4 inch thick. Line a baking dish with dough. Over the bottom spread a layer of tart apples, pared and thinly sliced. Sprinkle with sugar. Add a layer of very thin slices of onion. On this put the bacon which has been half cooked. Continue till the dish is full, finishing with a layer of apples. Cover with a top crust of biscuit dough. Perforate with a sharp-pointed knife. Bake in a moderate oven.

RAISIN AND APPLE PUDDING.
3/4 cup seeded raisins.
4 tablespoons brown sugar.
1/4 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons cinnamon.
1 tablespoon butter.
6 apples.
1-3 cup dried bread crumbs.

Butter a baking dish. Put into baking dish one-half the raisins. Add half the apples which have been pared and quartered. Dust with salt. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and dot with butter. Add the rest of the raisins and apples. Add salt, sugar, cinnamon and butter. Pour over 4 tablespoons of water. Cover with bread crumbs. Dot with butter. Cover closely and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Uncover and brown. Serve hot or cold, with or without cream.

The tops of blankets and comforters always soil first. No matter how carefully one may make the bed, turning the top sheet many inches over the rest of the bed clothes, the edges of the covers do seem to get dirty very quickly.

An easy and economical way to overcome this is to sew a deep facing of cheese-cloth across the ends of the blanket. The facing should be at least six inches deep on both sides of the cover.

It's much easier to rip this protector off and wash it once a fortnight or whenever one's housekeeping conscience demands, than it is to wash a whole blanket or comforter.

Menu for Tomorrow.
BREAKFAST—Cantaloupe, plain omelet, cinnamon toast, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Stuffed eggplant,

brown bread, peach conserve, tea.

DINNER—Club steak, shoestring potatoes, corn on the cob, onion and green pepper salad, watermelon, coffee.

My Own Recipes.
If the corn is not strictly fresh a teaspoonful of sugar added to the water in which it is cooked will give it a plucked-from-the-garden taste. Nearly all vegetables lose some of their sweetness after they have been picked several hours. A small amount of sugar added to the water in which they cook restores the natural sweetness.

STUFFED EGGPLANT.
1 large eggplant.
1 cup stale bread crumbs.
3 slices bacon.
1 teaspoon minced onion.
2 tablespoons minced parsley.
1/2 cup mushrooms.
1 egg.
Dried bread crumbs.
1 teaspoon salt.

Wash eggplant and cut in half. Remove pulp without breaking the skin. Put pulp in a bowl with salt. Cover with a weight and let stand an hour. Drain and chop pulp. Cut bacon in small pieces and fry. Add onion, parsley and mushrooms and cook slowly till a light brown. Add eggplant and bread crumbs, and water, if necessary, and cook ten minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire and add beaten egg. Season with 1/4 teaspoonful of paprika. Fill the shells with this mixture. Dot with butter and sprinkle the tops with dried bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the shells are tender.

PEACH CONSERVE.
4 pounds peaches.
1 pound white grapes.
3 oranges.
1/2 pound blanched almonds.
4 pounds sugar.

Pare peaches and cut into small pieces. Wash and remove seeds from grapes. Wash oranges and slice very thin. Cook very slowly until fruit is well mired. Add sugar and cook for an hour. Add almonds chopped fine. The conserve should be thick and clear when done. The nuts should not cook more than thirty minutes as prolonged cooking will make them bitter. Pour into glasses and seal when cool.

Too many cooks spoil the broth but a little assistance in the kitchen is often appreciated.

The heart cannot possibly remain neutral, but constantly takes part one way or the other.—Shaftesbury.

WHY LIVE?

A St. Louis millionaire killed himself.

No scandal, no loss of fortune, no unbearable disappointment had fallen upon his life, and yet he was tired of living.

This man had accumulated millions. He had a mansion to live in, a family to love and live for, many friends, and health. His neighbors had just honored him by nominating him as their candidate for congress.
He had everything most men wish for, everything all young men set before them as goals worthy the strongest effort. And yet his life wasn't worth living.

Why?
At the same time, in the same city,
a man of 72 in the charity ward of a hospital. He was putting up a brave battle for life. He wanted to live. He had been a failure in life,
as failures are reckoned.

This old man had never earned as much as three dollars a day. His some long ago was broken up by death of wife and children. His friends long since have passed away, or forgotten him. He had nothing to live for, no one to care whether he lived or didn't. Yet he was exceedingly anxious to live.

Can it be that the highest goal in life is not wealth, fame, family, friends? Can it be that there is something more to life than possession of money, mansions, health?
Can it be that this "something" missing out of the millionaire's life was present in the pauper's life, and outweighed the lack of home, health,
friends, fortune, fame?

DISASTER COMING?

Oswald Spengler has written a book, "The Decline of Western Civilization," which reviewers regard as noteworthy. He compares the future with the past and declares that the civilization of western Europe (which of course includes America) has reached its limit and is about to come to an end.

When a civilization is broken up it means disaster for individuals. Even a railroad strike may starve a city.
But if disaster overwhelms the civilized peoples of today it is their own fault. Some writers attribute the fall of Rome to the weakness caused by malaria; but today medical science
is competent, as it never was before,
to overcome the plagues that once
laid people low.

With scientific agriculture and a world to draw on for supplies, no country need be starved by local famines. The wider civilization spreads the less it has to fear from barbarian invasion. The invention of local self-government within a nation diminishes the chance of despotism.

In all these respects modern civilization was an advantage over all those that preceded it. What threatens it most is mutual understanding between its own different nations or classes. But here also it has an advantage over former civilizations.
Christianity and Buddhism are both religions of peace and sympathy.
Slavery, once universal, is a thing of the past; and the exploitation of others is recognized as bad morals and on the end bad economics.

BRINGING UP FATHER.

HAY FEVER

As certain as the migration of the caribou across the barren lands is the excursion of the world's hay fever sufferers who now move toward their fall retreats. Goldenrod and rag-weed are their enemies. Laden with the impediments of warfare against it, this poor, miserable army of red-nosed and watery-eyed humans hies itself away to the supposedly immune spots to await the coming of the "first frosts."
Victims fear it almost as much as death. Many say they can tell the exact day, the exact hour, the first paroxysm will appear. They prepare for it with the certainty that the condemned man prepares for death. They are disappointed if they miss it by an hour in their prophecy.

At the lake resorts or in the mountain camps, where these fellow sufferers congregate each year, these experts on diagnosis, knowing their own cases so well, spend much time on the porch chairs, elucidating to the rest of the clan on the symptoms.

For 350 years medical men and scientists have been writing fat books about hay fever. Twenty-nine synonyms in the English language have been used for it. The disease was known in the sixteenth century. Bot-alms, in 1656, reported a case. Van Helmont and Binninger, in the seventeenth century, speak of it. King George IV was a royal sufferer.

Folks talk a lot about it. But they haven't discovered a cure for it. What helps one fellow doesn't touch another.
Maybe it's just as well. Hay fever is a good leveler and brings the high and mighty down to the common folks. And if anyone discovered a cure for it there would be little business for the summer hotels in the latter part of the season, for that's when the "sneezers" are at their best, or worst.

AUTUMN

Summer slips swiftly on. Before one realizes it September will be here. And with it autumn, wonderful season of the year.

The dreamy drone of the lazy locust will be supplanted by the chatter of the nut-gathering squirrel. The clear, cloudless days of now will pass and the smoky, hazy days of fall, with the coppery sunset, will succeed them.

Nature will soon be at her best.
Indian summer days portend the nutting season, bins bursting with gathered wheat, stubble fields in which Bob White fattens, and row up on row of tepees of corn shocks, their golden ears stripped and in piles,
waiting for the wagons.

The calendar says the autumnal change begins on Sept. 23. Nature herself may make another decision.
She doesn't always run true to form.
At any rate, the fall is a comfortable
season, for then the American farmer
"cashes in," business in the cities starts to move along more briskly, and there's pep and push and vinegar in the very atmosphere. Autumn supplies a tonic for lagging summer brains.

AUTO EXPORTS.

The United States is putting the world on wheels—automobile and truck wheels.

Export figures, just made public,
show a decided increase in number and value of automobile shipments to foreign countries.

For the year ending June 30, 1920,
Uncle Sam sent 24,356 commercial cars
abroad, as against 12,921 for 1919.
Passenger automobile exports totaled 115,519 cars this year as against 41,291 the year before.

All of which proves that Uncle Sam is a growing auto builder, and that foreign nations are getting on their financial feet, enough so to indulge in the pleasant pastime of autoing.

HOPE

The soap was lost at the city jail
in Toledo the other night.

"Unwashed and discouraged the prisoners sat down to a late breakfast," says a newspaper reporter.

"Unwashed and discouraged" is just plain nature faking, isn't it?

Those Tennessee legislators who voted against suffrage will think twice before they run for re-election.

FOXY PHILIP.

Mr. Tingaling limped away from Forty Turtle's house holding on for dear life to Nick and Nancy, his little friends, because Forty's Granddad pinched him. And mind you, he tried to say afterwards that he thought Tingaling was a pearl, but I hardly believe that, Tingaling being so roly-poly and round in everything. But after all, that may have been the very reason.

Mr. Philip had palpitation of the heart when he saw the fairy landlord turn the corner looking as cross as a bear.
"Quick!" he called to his wife who was washing the baby's ears. "Come here, Flopsy, and when Mr. Tingaling calls for his rent, tell him I've gone on a vacation. I'm going on a five-minute vacation down in the mud at the bottom of the pond, but it won't be at all necessary for you to tell Mr.
Philip that. When he's gone just go 'Ker-

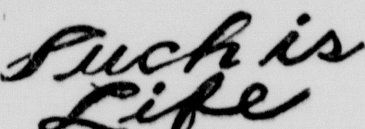

"When he's gone just go 'Ker-chunk!' three times and I'll come up again," said Phil.

Well, just between Forty's cave and Marty Mink's house, lived that old rascal Phil Frog, who told such a yarn
about Marty Mink getting caught,
when he wasn't caught at all.

Mr. Tingaling hadn't forgotten that,
not for a minute, and the pinching he'd just got didn't make him feel a bit more like forgiving anybody any-things, so it was small wonder that chunk! three times and I'll come up again. Now do exactly as I tell you and everything will be fine as a spider-web. Phil gave a flop and a dive and a wiggle and was gone. Nothing to be seen anywhere but a few lay-ings of mud oozing up toward the top of the water. Just then the rent-collectors arrived.

"Went to a swell club to play billiards," said Bobbs.

"Hobbs took me, he being a member."

"Clever fellow, Hobbs, always saying bright things."

"Hope you don't beat me too
badly," says he. "To play billiards too well argues a mis-spent youth."

"Bobbs came along and was introduced. 'Watch this guy,' he winks to me, 'the way he plays billiards argues a mis-spent youth.'"

"Bobbs went by. 'Have a cue,' invites Bobbs. 'Nix on three ball cushion carom,' says Bobbs. 'Game
like that argues a mis-spent youth.'"

"Give me my word a dozen fellows handed me that same phrase in the hour or so I was there."

"All of them men of affairs, exceptional men, men supposed to think for themselves."

"Made me think a little for myself.
Just a little. Just enough to make me think I don't think."

"Order some flour, soap and pickles," says Friend Wife.

"And I ask for"

"Miller's—Potentially, why not now?"

"Bonehead—99 and 101-100 per cent
pure."

"Quartz—67 varieties."

"Why? Miss-spent youth. Never learned to think. So I pay some advertising guy to do it for me. No blame to him of course."

"Go to a play. Read a book. Support a candidate."

"Do I pick 'em? Not a chance I go where the crowd goes. Read the best seller. Vote for some phrase life 'Tariff is tax.' 'No foreign inflation.' 'Let well enough alone!' or
'America and the old flag.'"

"Mis-spent youth. Mis-spent in schools mostly. Never learned to think. Wait for the mob to think for me. Don't even know I do it, half the time. And we call our school system 'educational!'"

"Gee!"

"Mis-spent youth' is right."

They are, however, of very little in-

A. It is possible that some first-questionable whether such an opera-

now exists. It is suggested that you

THE BOOK OF ANN
I Take up the Battle For Ann Against Claude Ives.

"For the honor of the Lorimers,
you'll have to chaperone Ann and that interior decorator," Chrys insisted.
"We will not tolerate a vulgar scandal
in this clan."

I didn't remind her that her own father had introduced a pretty lively skeleton into the Lorimer closet once upon a time. She could have replied, of course, that the entire family had combined to protect the family name
and had done so with great success.

"For the honor of the family!" I repeated. "I suppose persons who marry
into an organized family ought always to respect its standards and to abide by them—or else—keep out. But Ann never can understand that. She has lived in 'Bohemia' too long, I suppose."

"Bohemia" is a state of mind, my dear girl. Ann's mother lived in 'Bohemia,' I suppose, but she isn't 'Bohemian.' She hasn't a sloppy mind, by any means."

Ann's sloppy mind is making absolutely unnecessary trouble for you and me, and it isn't fair," I scolded.
"Her mind takes in all the nonsense
that decorator, Claude Ives, elaborates for her. Do you know that he has told her that her new home should be furnished in colors to harmonize with her 'aura'?" It appears that we all trail clouds of glory as we come, and we keep trailing them, as a sort of a psychic veil, through life. And if we are to be at our ease, in our homes,
we must suit the color of our bath towels and a few other things to the invisible 'aura' we move around in."

"So that is how Mr. Ives achieves those unexplainable flirtations he has the reputation for carrying on with some of the handsomest women in town!"

"That's his secret, I guess. He has made individual studies, Ann says.
I suppose that's so he can discover the correct back-drop against which to show off individually."

"I see. No mortal mind could discover exact shade of Ann's psychic veil just by seeing her once! Some dandy invention for a philander, isn't it?"

"He has told Ann he never could discover the tinge of her soul in the presence of others!"

"Humph! I can divine his 'aura' without seeing him at all. Shining brass!" murmured Chrys.

"He has told her that the presence of a third person would confuse her or distract her so that her 'aura' wouldn't give off perceptible waves. Also a third person would take his attention
so that he couldn't receive a direct wireless about her color scheme!"

"And thus Ann accounts for those auto expeditions alone with Ives, and the trips to collectors of 'Rares and Antiques' and conferences in Ann's empty bungalow!" said Chrys sarsentically. "Jane, I guess this little war
is now up to you!"

"Why isn't it your war, Chrys?"

"Simply because Ann dislikes me so.
I couldn't do a thing with her. She's always like a naughty child with me.
Jane Lorimer, remember your pet theory—and go to it!"

I meditated a moment upon the bit
of discipline which she recommended.
My father had initiated it in my education. He believed that if an individual will force himself to perform some unbecoming task each day, he will crystallize the "hero stuff" which

BY GEORGE McMANUS

is in him.
I remembered how I had shot up
U-boat crew, nursed Hun conspirators dying of the flu, piloted a runaway plane through the clouds, and survived famine in a secret call of a ancient Mexican hacienda. Yet all these seemed gentle deeds compared with bearding Claude Ives when in search of his prey!

At length I managed to say:
"Very well, Chrys! For the honor of the family—tell Ann to stop her on her way to the milliner's."

Chrys went home and I went up stairs to don my street dress. I never did like to put a meddling finger in other people's affairs and I was indignant that a little simpleton like Ann should upset my theory. Moreover, wasn't it all sure I could manage the affair.

Claude Ives was used to intrigue.
was not.

Recommend Laws to Protect All Aliens

St. Louis, Aug. 25.—Enactment of federal legislation guaranteeing more adequate protection to aliens in their treaty rights was recommended at today's session of the convention of the American Bar Association by its Committee on Jurisprudence and Law Reform.

This subject is "entitled to very serious consideration in the pending Congress," in the opinion of the committee. Its recommendation, according to the report, results from "various complaints that have been made to the United States by other nations that the rights of the citizens of those nations, under existing treaties, were not sufficiently protected by laws of this country."

The proposed legislation provides that the "President be authorized to direct the Attorney-General, in the name and behalf of the United States, to file a bill in equity in the proper district court of the United States against any person threatening to violate the rights of a citizen or subject of a foreign country, secured by such citizen or subject by treaty between the United States and such foreign country; and that this provision shall apply to acts threatened by state officers under the alleged justification of a law of the legislature of the state in which such acts are to be committed.

In cases where aliens are brought to trial in state courts for violation of state statutes, which are deemed by the President to be contrary to the rights of the defendant, the government, under the proposed law, would have power to file an intervening petition for the transfer of the action to Federal court.

The committee also suggested amplifications of the judicial code to clarify laws governing the removal of causes and advised changes in the rules of the Supreme Court so that lawyers would not have to journey to Washington to file motions.

Young Girls Made Strong

Mrs. Boyd Tells How Her Daughter Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Danville, Ill.—"My daughter was very delicate and we thought we could not raise her. She was troubled with irregularity and she was not able to go to school. For a year we gave her all kinds of tonics, but to no good. One day one of your little booklets was thrown on our porch and I saw what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and what it might do for her. Now she is getting fat and goes to school every day. You can tell every mother what the Vegetable Compound has done for my daughter."—Mrs. J. H. Horn, 1002 N. Jackson St., Danville, Ill.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Boyd did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, headache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial, they would soon find relief from such suffering.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years' experience is at your service.
